If this 16 min from Britain First today, doesn't worry you - it should! It is disgraceful! The ambush had nothing to do with speeding, dangerous driving or anything like that - just ambushed and stopped on orders from who? possibly the Home Secretary? This is the tyranny of England today- and more harassment by the police! As Paul Golding of Britain First rightly says - it is must be politically motivated! A review of the facts: 2 unmarked police cars, very solid harsh and thuggish police officers calling one occupant a moron, 24 minutes of delay and a thorough inspection of the vehicle, even of the battery, and of all incidental paper work.

The input below came with the video from Britain First

www.britainfirst.org

A team of Britain First activists were on their way to a day of activities in the midlands region, when they were ambushed by unmarked police vehicles.

What followed was half an hour of ridiculous harassment, forensic vehicle checks and verbal confrontations.

The establishment is obviously worried that our movement is deploying several advertising vehicles all across the nation.

Their reply is to engage is blatant politically motivated harassment.
