Winter ushers in the joy of the holiday season, but with it comes colder temperatures and the unfortunate decline of natural vitamin D, a crucial nutrient for optimal health.

We normally produce this vitamin when sunlight touches our skin. But during the winter months, this becomes a problem, especially for people living far from the equator, since the sun sits much lower in the sky. Because of the limited amount of sunlight available, the body generates less vitamin D. This is just one of many reasons why winter is the perfect time to supplement with vitamin D.

To help you accomplish this, the Health Ranger Store is thrilled to bring back Chief Originals Vitamin D3 5000 IU Vegetarian

Originals Vitamin D3 5000 IU Vegetarian Capsules. Our lab-verified vitamin D3 capsules are naturally sourced from high-quality, lab-verified sheep's wool. This means that they are derived from a renewable natural source and contain no GMOs, artificial chemicals, preservatives, additives, allergens or gluten. Our vitamin D3 capsules are also vegetarian, non-China and carefully lab tested for heavy metals, microbiology and glyphosate using ISO-accredited mass spec laboratory instruments.”
